

LISA M. DUROSS

PRINCIPAL / DETROIT METRO OFFICE

Diligent and driven, Lisa devises creative yet pragmatic brand management and IP asset protection strategies. She has practiced intellectual property law exclusively for more than 30 years and is an Equity Principal of Harness IP. Lisa's practice focuses on all aspects of trademark and copyright law, with significant emphasis on working with clients to develop a global trademark strategy.

Lisa is distinguished by her acumen and dedication. Team DuRoss exceeds client goals efficiently and without compromising outcomes.

Lisa avoids a cookie-cutter approach to brand management. She tailors trademark protection strategies to clients' evolving goals generally and those specific to a particular brand or campaign. These strategies include taking advantage of territorial filings where feasible, crafting thoughtful, country/region-appropriate identifications of goods/services, strategizing the optimum form of the mark in light of the nature of the mark, the forum, and the applicable filing bases, to reduce costs and streamline the process.

As an adjunct professor, Lisa developed and taught a curriculum entitled "Protecting Your Ideas." She has spoken on various intellectual property topics, including the Copyright Fair Use Doctrine in the educational arena. She has also lived and studied in Paris, France.
